FRIDAY......JUNE 4, 1875. Mozis Addums in New York.

[Correspondence of the Richmond Dispatch.] NEW YORK, April, 1875. Us kose I were not a goin to run my hed into no Nothun lion's mouth. But when a totul man that I never lade eyes on befo comes up behine me to git my sekrits, I'm boun to kepe dark, and the bes' way to do that is fur to tell the truth with a few floursis to it. My nego boy Madson, that walkt with me as fur as Rains's Tayun (which ther aint no tavun nor nothin else thar now), tole me when we shuk hans, says be: "Ole marster, you's gwine fur, fur away. I'll take keer uv everything at home, me and black whiskers will be, I'm lost to deturmole mistiss (my wite's a gittin long—got grey har) will; but you take keer of yosef. Keep Me yo eye skun well back, and don't let nobody fling no dert in it, nor pull no wool over it." Which I promist him I faithful would.

frum sea, whar thar aint even a X rodes sto in sight, ar like lookin doun frum a hi the nite. We stops ten minits to quoruntee, which is a doctor comin to the ship in a tugg and takin 'leven dollars, and he tells by the looks of the munny, or ruther by feelin' uv nobody abode that's got the yaller-fever or the kolrymorbers-and away we goes. Here I want to say one last word for the good ship that fotch me throo the storm befo I part with her. It ar the most compleet uv the erth on water that ever wuz or will be inventid. In bumpy wether it's a leetle too much like rockin longer than you want fus' at V.'s, which is the rezon I prefears and deliteful skeem for sailin over the fase to rock in a rockin-cheer that aint got no Dabny's Tavun to a' uther botel in Noo back to it; but thar's everything abode that Yark. As I riz, I went to heist the winder hart could wish, even down to split-bottom to git sum ar, and found a dubbil glas do, cheers, and the onliest thing lackin, as I told openin' into a nutber room. "Quer house," Capting Walker, is a ole-fashun open fireplace, with a blazin log-fire; and that they'll have in time, if you order it on a peece uv paper and hand it to the waiter for a winekeerd. Steam-pipes under the seats dont warm country peepul's toes that is usen to hot ashes on a wood harth.

no sich a man. He were a strarjur to me, and what he said were not interestin. So I done, but for a quarter uv a hour after I sot done like the skurmish boys when they is down, my ears burnt like I was settin with crowdid-I rallid on the resurve, and wisht my back to a big fire. I had stayd at home. I were not prepard for war so suddin.

I has sinse that uv eny quontity uv ansers, and real good ones too, but my drotted mind has got a mean way, suntimes, uv goin' back on me, not thinkin' a thot and not budg-in' a peg till the feller is clean gone, and the anser gits so cold it don't taste good.

I went into the kabin after the stranjur had used me up so, and thar everybody was bizzy preparin' to leave the ship and go home. Then it wuz my lonesum stait cum down on me like a bevy wayt-all the rest wuz at home but me, and whar wuz 1? Nobody knowd nor keerd. I were feerd to leave till daylite, and then I would'n hav no mo' idee whar to go than I did at nite. So I went out and wo'ch't 'em whuri the buge vessel roun'd and back her into the Doc; and they done it jest as eezy as backin uv a cart-all in the dark and only 2 dim lamps burbin-and she wouldn't a bust a egg-shell when she hit the whorit. The Damyankys is certny good shipfa mers—but the capting was a Ishman.

Thar want no dray nor ox-team uv eny kind that I could see, and I would 'a gone up to bed if Mr. Conly and Hymans hadn't kindly offerd to take me in thar bac. Which I thankt um kindly and told um to drop me at leventeen hundred and leventyleven Leventy-leventh street.

"But, my friend," said Mr. Hymens

"Hut, my friend," said Mr. Hymens,
"that'll take you nighty ni up to Kinedy."
"Well," I says, "we'll skeersly git thar to-night, but so I git thar to brekfus I don't keer. The ticket-agunt at Bucksvil tole me the sitty run'd from Kastle Gardin up to Skinnecktidy, and I'm reddy and willin to keep a goin till I git to the rite plais." "But," he says, and thar he stopt short, like he wuz botherd.

"What's the name ov the jentilman that you are going to?" said Mr. Conly.

"Mr. V. Dabny," says I.
"Dabny, Dabny," says he. "What does he do?"

"Teaches boys' skule."
"Oh!" he says, "I know the plais well.
And a good skule it is. He's moved down to 43 east 29 street. We're all right new. Drive on, driver."

The driver druv, and away we went. We dartid here and we dartid thar; we whurld, and we qurid, and we twurld; turnd cornder after cornder, houses and winders and lights and lamps, and lights and lamps and winders and houses and streets-no cend ov em-and plenty ov pepal and steepils, altho it wuz midnite. I lookt out ov the hacwinder and tried to see the tops ov the houses, but could't. They went up clean out ov sight. We turnd and dartid and rolled and rattild and kep a goin. I giv it up. Streets, and houses, and winders, and lamps, and pepul, and things, furuver and furuver. My brain got tangled. I shet my eyes, lean'd back and said, "Too much town for Mozis." 'Twur wues'n a storm at sea. It 'minded me uy that mornin' at Menasser. I felt like a big battil wuz goin' on that I couldn't stop, and what wuz to become uy me and my family warn't uv no consekens and wuz C. McCARTHY, indefnitly postponed. 'Way we went and indefnitly postponed. 'Way we went, and kep' agoin'-houses and streets, and streets and houses. One gentilman got out at the Gransentral, and the uther at the Winchestir; and thar wuz me, all by my lone self. The hac' now whurld, and qurid, and roled. I laid back, reckliss, and says, says I: "Go it, ole hac'! I don't keer whar you go, ef yo' bottom don't buss and the wheels hangs on."

In a minit we stopt, the man jumpt down. run up the steps, wrung the bell, and a vois that 'peard to come from the clouds says:

and I says, most joyful:

up'uds and 'rong side out, here I am, all compleet, Charly at the Cathole, and glad to be here, too." In two minits I wuz up-stars, fase to fase

In Fomvil to-day, in Noo Yark to-morrow; and you skeersly knows the diffrunce; only the beds is the low quortidist beds that uver see. I spec when I gits to the uther wurld I'll meet a man frum Prins Eddud (a good Prisbyteriun, like Androo Venabil, mos' likely), and I won't know what's hapined to me-onless Androo havs wings, which would be ve'y becomin to him. The improvements consist of an excellent BRICK DWELLING with about eight rooms, besides other buildings. The property is located two squares west of the corporate limits of the city, on the direct line of the proposed grand drive to the new reservoir, and must inevitably be amongst the first to respond to the earliest and best improvement in real estate in this vicinity. At present it offers a most desirable home and market garden to any person wishing to combine the pleasures of a suburban residence with the conferts of the city. There is a plan showing a sundivision of this property in seventy-seven pice lots, and it will be sold according to the plan, or otherwise, as may be deemed best at the time of sale.
